Miami | January 22, 2026 — Meland Budwick, P.A. is pleased to announce that former South Florida federal prosecutor Will Rosenzweig has joined the firm as a partner, further strengthening its commercial litigation and trial capabilities.

Rosenzweig joins the firm after serving five years as an Assistant United States Attorney in the Southern District of Florida, where he prosecuted fraud, financial crimes, and other significant federal cases, handling cases through trial and appeal.

Prior to his public service, Rosenzweig practiced at leading national and international law firms, where he handled securities fraud matters, government enforcement defense, investigations, and multi-jurisdictional disputes.

“Meland Budwick’s success in pursuing recoveries for financial frauds and trade secrets misappropriation naturally drew my attention as a former economic crimes prosecutor,” said Rosenzweig. “Its talented attorneys and innovative practice made clear it was the ideal place for me to continue my career. I am excited about the opportunity to add to the Firm’s practice areas, including bankruptcy and complex commercial litigation, while providing my experience in health care, whistleblower, and asset recovery matters.”

“Will’s background as a federal prosecutor with significant trial experience makes him a natural fit with our practice areas,” said Eric Ostroff, managing partner of Meland Budwick. “His experience aligns closely with our financial fraud work, where we pursue recoveries in Ponzi schemes, and our trade secrets practice, at the intersection of federal criminal statutes and civil claims. We approach every case with the expectation that it will go to trial, and Will’s trial and appellate experience further strengthens that approach.”
